Consumption Takes 350 People Every Day

in the United States and the surprising truth is that most cases are preventable with timely, intelligent treatment.

These appalling facts should warn us that after sickness, colds, overwork or any other drains upon strength, Scott's Emulsion should be promptly and regularly used because tubercular germs thrive only in a weakened system.

The tested and proven value of Scott's Emulsion is recognized by the greatest specialists because its medical nourishment assimilates quickly to build healthy tissue; aids in the development of active, life-sustaining blood corpuscles; strengthens the lungs and builds physical force without reaction. Scott's Emulsion is used in tuberculous camps because of its rare body-building, blood-making properties and because it contains no alcohol or habit-forming drug. Be sure to insist on Scott's.

Nature's Own Wrapping Keeps Tobacco Best

No artificial package—tin, bag, or tin-foil and paper—can keep tobacco as well as the natural leaf wrapper that holds all the original flavor and moisture in the Sickle plug. When you whittle off a pipeful, you always get fresh tobacco, that burns slowly, and smokes cool and sweet.

Chopped-up, "package" tobacco loses much of its moisture before it goes into the package, and keeps getting drier all the time. And the drier it gets, the faster it burns in your pipe, and the more it bites your tongue. Only fresh tobacco gives real pipe-satisfaction—and only tobacco you cut off the Sickle plug as you use it, can be fresh.

Economical, too—no waste—no package to pay for—more tobacco. Get a Sickle plug from your dealer today.

Plea for All Birds Even Hawk and Owl.

An attempt is made to make all persons acquainted with 50 common birds and their nestlings, to the end that a bulletin freely distributed by the bureau of biological survey at Washington. A description of the appearance and habit of each bird is given that he may be appreciated for what he is doing apart from filling the air with gladness and be protected and nurtured for it. A direct appeal is made to children.

Introducing the birds, one at a time, this preliminary comment is made:

Entomologists have estimated that insects yearly cause a loss upward of $700,000,000 to the agricultural interests of the United States. Were it not for our birds the loss would be much greater and, indeed, it is believed without aid of our feathered friends successful agriculture would be impossible.

"A knowledge of the birds that protect the crops is, therefore, as important as a knowledge of the insect pests that destroy them. Such knowledge is the more important because the relation of birds to man's interests is extremely complex.

"Thus while it may be said that most of our birds are useful, there are only a few of them that are always and everywhere useful and that never do harm. Insectivorous birds, for instance, destroy along with a vast number of harmful insects, some parasitic and predatory kinds. These latter are among nature's most effective agents for keeping destructive insects in check.

"To the extent, then, that birds destroy useful parasitic insects they are harmful. But, taking the year around, the good they do by the destruction of insects injurious to man's interests far outweighs the little harm they do. It may be said, too, that of the birds usually classified as noxious there are very few which do not possess redeeming traits. Thus the crow is mischievous in spring and sorely taxes the farmer's patience and ingenuity to prevent him from pulling up the newly planted corn. Moreover the crow destroys the eggs and young of insectivorous and game birds but, on the other hand, he eats many insects, especially white grubs and cut worms, and destroys many meadow mice, so that in many respects he is a very useful bird.

"Most of the hawks and owls even—birds that have received so bad a name that the farmer's boy and the sportsman are ever on the alert to kill them—are very useful. Better is to destroy vast numbers of insects and harmful rodents.

"Birds occupy a unique position among the enemies of insects, since their power of flight enables them at short notice to gather at points where there are abnormal insect outbreaks. A unusual abundance of grasshoppers, for instance, in a given locality soon attracts the birds from a wide area, and as a rule their visits cease only when there are no grasshoppers left. So also, a marked increase in the number of small rodents in a given neighborhood speedily attracts the attention of hawks and owls, which, by reason of their voracious appetites, soon produce a marked diminution of the swarming foe.

"No other creatures are so well fitted to capture flying insects as swallows, swifts and night hawks. Among the avian ranks also are wrens, trim of body and agile of movement, that creep in and out of holes and crevices and explore rubbish heaps for insects.

"The woodpecker whose whole body exhibits wonderful adaptation of means to end, is provided with strong claws for holding firmly when at work, a chisel-like bill driven by powerful muscles to dig out insects, and a long extensible tongue to pull further and explore the hidden retreats of insects and drag forth the concealed larvae, safe from other foes.

"The creepers, titmice, warblers, flycatchers, quail, doves and other families have each their own special field of activity. However like they may be in appearance, structure, and habits, all are similar in one respect—they possess a never flagging appetite for insects and weed seeds.

"One of the most useful groups of native birds is the sparrow family. Within one of the true warblers, for instance, the sparrow family is a conservative estimate of the food of an adult. On this basis in a large agricultural state like Iowa, tree sparrows annually eat approximately 875 tons of weed seed.

"Some idea of the money value of this group of birds to the country may be gained from the statement that the total value of the farm products in the United States in 1910 reached the amazing sum of $5,926,000,000. If we estimate that the total consumption of weed seed by the combined members of the sparrow family resulted in a saving of only one per cent. of the crops—not a violent assumption—the sum saved to farmers by these birds in 1910 was $5,926,000.

"The current idea in relation to hawks and owls is erroneous. These birds are generally classed as thieves and robbers, whereas a large majority of them spend the greater part of their lives in pursuit of injurious insects and rodents. The hawks work by day, the owls by night, so the useful activities of the two classes are continued practically throughout the 24 hours.

"As many as 100 grasshoppers have been found in the stomach of a Swallow's hawk, representing a single meal, and in the retreat of a pair of barn owls have been found more than 3,000 skunks, 80 per cent. of which were of mammals, the bulk consisting of field mice, house mice and common rats. Nearly half a bushel of the remains of pocket gophers—animals which are destructive in certain parts of the United States—was found near a nest of this species.

"The notable increase of noxious rodents during the last few years in certain parts of the United States and the consequent damage to crops are due to the diminished number of birds of prey, which formerly destroyed them and aided in keeping their numbers down. A few hawks are injurious, and the bulk of the depredations on bird and chickens chargeable against hawks is committed by three species—the Cooper's hawk, the sharp-shinned hawk and the goshawk. The farmer's boy should learn to know these daring robbers by sight so as to kill them whenever possible.

The meeting of the Oxford and Cumberland county's Jersey Breeder's Association will be held at the farm of Fred Kenerson at Fryburg, Wednesday, October 29th. Prof. L. F. Crockett of the University of Maine will be present.

I TOOK PE-RU-NA

Was Able to Sleep and Eat Again

Mrs. Mueller says: "I kept Peruna in the house constantly. When I am not feeling well I take a few doses. It always restores."

Mrs. Mueller's story of her experience with Peruna fully explains why she always keeps Peruna on hand. A few years ago P. O. Box 321, Hawley, she was very sick. The trouble seemed to be the stomach and liver. She suffered great pain. Was unable to get anything to help her. She was growing weaker and weaker. She became tired of life.

Somebody suggested that she write to the Peruna Co. She did so. Through their advice she began to use Peruna. In a letter from her at this time she says: "Through the use of Peruna I have regained my health. I took only a bottle and a half when I was able to sleep and eat again and my nervousness disappeared." No wonder Mrs. Mueller keeps Peruna in the house. Under similar circumstances Peruna would be in every house in the land.

Any one taking Peruna ought to have a free copy of the "Bills of Life." Address Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio. People who object to liquid medicines can now obtain Peruna Tablets.
